1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Afghan Innovative Consulting Bureau with support of Kunar PRT started initiative towards promoting private sector and business development in Kunar. The project aimed towards providing range of capacity building trainings, business development services, workshops/seminars and monthly publications for boosting the local entrepreneurship. The project also planned to conduct a comprehensive study of the local business environment in Kunar in order explore local challenges and potentials.

The planned study started end January and completed in about a month during February 2009. More than 350 local businesses and other stakeholders were interviewed during the survey. The survey has focused more on quality issues rather than on quantity, which means the survey has been collecting qualitative information regarding local business environment. This report will illustrate the results from the survey.

Different stakeholders including private sector actors, civil society, related Government Departments and other active organizations were involved in the coordination of this survey. The survey objectives and its methodology was developed by the Kunar Marketing and Business Development Assistant Program team. The local stakeholders also showed interest in supporting the supporting the team in compiling the findings.

The 350 surveyed local businesses including 51 various types of businesses ranging from production, suppliers, wholesalers, dealers, merchants, retailers and service providers. This mix of the businesses is also gives the survey a broader view and understanding of business environment of different types of businesses.

9 various government departments, civil society organization and 10 NGOs were also included in the survey in order to have broader understanding of local potentials.

This study has been carried out by the AICB survey team in kunar city and report is compiled for PRT Kunar. The report may be circulated among the related Government Ministries.

2. METHEDOLOGY:

The planning stage of the survey identified to use simple and effective methodology for conducting the survey. Looking to the local capacities consideration were made toward simplifying the data in order to get utmost results. The project team along with the AICB Kabul team had various focus group meeting in order to come with an efficient plan. After the preparation it was shared with various stakeholders such as ACCI, government departments and PRT in order to get feedback for improvement. The feedbacks from the stakeholders were incorporated into the survey plan.

The teams planned studying and interviewing 350 various businesses and local stakeholders, which included 51 various types of businesses, 9 government departments and civil society actors and 10 NGO communities in Kunar province.

The more effective method of one to one interview was selected by the survey team after consideration of local realities of literacy rate and other potentials. The survey team identified several questions to be answered by the target businesses and other stakeholders in order to get data on various aspects of the business environment.

A team of surveyors beside the project team and Kabul program support team was selected and trained. The surveyors were local and literate resource people.

2.1 Survey Teams

This survey was completed by three teams, the project team, AICB main office program team and a group of surveyors from Kunar. The project team was the mainly leading the survey and providing all the logistics and coordination arrangements both for program team and surveyors. This team was also responsible for collecting data from government departments, civil society organizations and NGO community.

The AICB program team was providing technical support and training to the project team and surveyors in order to ensure quality of the whole process. This team also assisted the project team to properly analyze the data collected and prepare reports.

The surveyors were the ones responsible for visiting different targeted businesses in local bazaar of Assadabad. These surveyors were also responsible for computerizing the data for analyzes purposes. Eight survey team members were nominated and were divided into four pairs. Each pair was assigned to visit single business together around Asada bad city and collect all the necessary data.

Various types of businesses were selected and divided accordingly among the team members. The survey team was intensively trained in survey questionnaire and survey techniques.

A database created for entering the data was used by the surveyors to computerize the data collected.

2.2 The Survey Questionnaire

The one to one interview method with planned businesses and stakeholders required a set of questions organized in shape of a simple questionnaire. The Target interviewees were two different categories one businesses itself and other stakeholder who are either not directly or involved in doing business however various other linkages with them have. Therefore, two separate questionnaires were prepared for each category. Both forms are annexed to this report.

The form1 was actually prepared for collecting data on business environment from different stakeholders including government departments, civil society actors and NGOs. This forms mainly focus on consolidating main challenges, practical solutions and local business opportunities or potentials.

The form2 was targeting the businesses itself, which is very detailed and covering various aspect of each businesses in Kunar. This form covers almost all as aspect of a business starting from its establishment, literacy, knowledge of business management, marketing, production, business development planning, linkages and many others.

These survey questionnaires were shared with different stakeholders for further comprehensiveness and the feedback received were incorporated into them. These questionnaires were also once pre-tested and revised as required before conducting actual survey.

3. MAIN CONSTRAINTS FACED

The only main constrain was the delay in completing the survey due to the fact that most of businesses selected for the survey were busy and not able to provide enough time to the survey team. On the other hand the entrepreneurs were not reluctant to share all the information necessary due to several reasons of being exposed etc. However, the survey team members were able to cope with these challenges.

4. DATA ANALYSES AND MAIN FINDINGS

Followings are the main finding analyzed from the data collecting during the survey.

4.1 Registration

The survey indicates that large number of the businesses are not registered or not having proper license. Different types of businesses are registered with different government departments, such as Wholesalers & retailers mostly are registered with municipality of Kunar, Traders are registered with Afghan Chamber of Commerce, others are registered with relevant ministry such as mine and industries and Ministry of agriculture and etc.

The survey also revealed that the registration at wholesalers and retailers are not organized well by the government. 80% of the wholesalers and retailers are even not registered with any Government departments, while they are paying ad hoc taxes to the department of finance staff without proper registration process. Having no proper registration and data on these businesses it is also complicated for the government and other agencies to provide proper support for their development.

The number of wholesalers and retailers are more than producers and traders in Kunar, while lack of their proper registration has created two potential problems. First, there is no proper data of how many wholesalers and retailers are operating in Kunar. Which means there is no control and check system existing. Second, the income tax and other dues are not properly submitted to the Government which has potential impact on the government revenues.

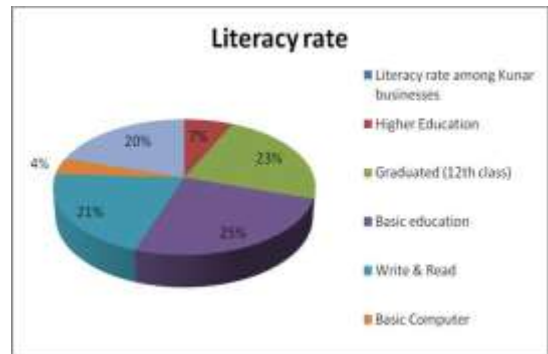

The below graph indicates the registration trend of various businesses

4.2 Literacy rate

The survey data reveals that 21% of the business owners are totally illiterate, while other 21% know how to read and write. 26% of businesses surveyed have studied some school, while only 7.18% of surveyed entrepreneurs are having high education and 26.34 entrepreneurs are 12th class graduated. 4.19 % of educated surveyed businesses have basic computer knowledge.

The above figures illustrates that the literacy rate among the entrepreneurs is not very low and large number of businesses owners at least know how to read and write. The businesses in Kunar are also moving forward towards learning and adopting new technology such as computer knowledge is increasing. The capacity building of local entrepreneurs seems a good approach since the majority at least has basic literacy skills.

4.3 Usage of computer and internet

The survey indicates that 4.0% of the educated surveyed entrepreneurs in Kunar have basic computer knowledge. The local businesses does not use advance database or accounting systems, however they have basic knowledge of MS office applications.

It has been recorded that only 0.04% of the businesses have email addresses and 83.5% of the survey business are looking forward to use internet in the near future.

The local businesses still use the old and traditional ways of doing trade with other countries. This indicates that the entrepreneurs are trying to use computers in their businesses however their knowledge about different applications are limited. This is also partly having direct affect in promotion of their businesses.

This could be one of the focus areas to modernize the businesses with latest technology and promote usage of internet. The emerging technology and internet can facilitate their business transactions, record keeping and promotion.

4.4 Accounting system usage:

The local businesses use traditional accrual based accounting system in their businesses. The survey data indicates that 97% business use manual accounting while only 3% use computer based accounting. Still the computerized accounting is not standard. There are two potential issues related to this, one lake of knowledge and skill and second late of electricity in the city. This also indicates that there is a potential gape in local business development in terms of not understanding accounting system and unable to do proper cost-benefit analyses of their own businesses.

4.5 Business related trainings and skills

The survey data indicates that 54% of the local businesses are never trained in business related trainings such as business management, accounting trainings etc. 46% of the business owners or their employees have got some training either in business management, marketing or other related trainings.

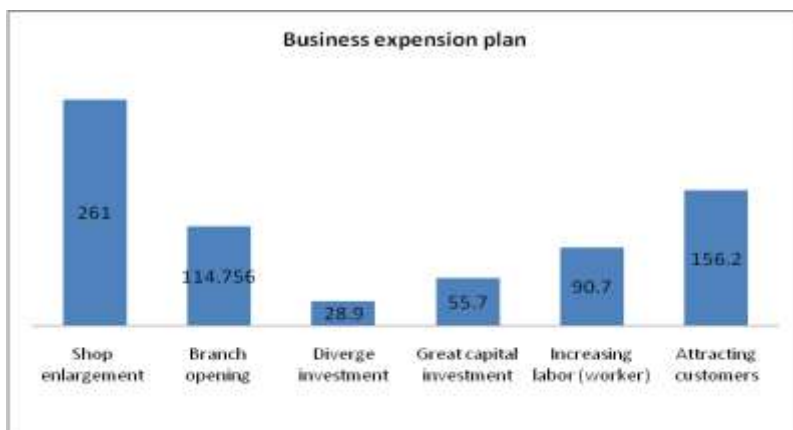

This shows that there is a greater need of such trainings for local business development in Kunar province. 80% of the surveyed businesses have showed interest in taking part of such training business related trainings. The below chart indicate training needs and interest of the local businesses.

The above findings of the survey were more focused on the managerial skills of different entrepreneurs, while the report below will elaborate more about the business itself its challenges and potentials in Kunar.

4.6 Evaluating businesses

The questionnaires contained question regarding business evaluation and expansions plans. These questions were added to explore if the businesses have any expansion plan and they really need Business Development Services. The survey revealed that most of the businesses do not understand the business development services and its benefits. However, they are willing to expand their businesses through various approaches.

They will need support in order to grow both financially and technically. The following charts indicate the business expansion plan (though these plans are only virtual). The charts will also show how the business currently evaluates their own successes.

The above charts indicate that large number of businesses are not satisfy and evaluating their businesses as unsuccessful and or less successful. However the chart below indicates major challenges they face and factors affecting their businesses.

Major Challenges to businesses

Exploring the major challenges business face in Kunar are many, however the majority of the businesses concluded the following major challenges:

The lake of energy is the biggest challenge to businesses in Kunar, while the electricity generated from generators is costly. The second major challenge of businesses is no access to financial services. And the government law and policy environment are also not consider business friendly.

There are only few financial agencies providing SME loads with comparatively higher interest rates. The local businessmen relay on their personal links with friends and family in order to cope with the financial challenges which are most of time not realistic. Increasing the financial resource center will would also help sector to grow up.

The below chart indicates the current financial options for local businesses in case of financial crises.

The chart indicates that large number of entrepreneurs depends on loan from friends and relatives.

It has also been revealed from the survey that majority of the businesses even fail due the same lack enough financial sources.

The Kunar entrepreneurs do not prefer loans or credits having interest which is prohibited by Islam religion.

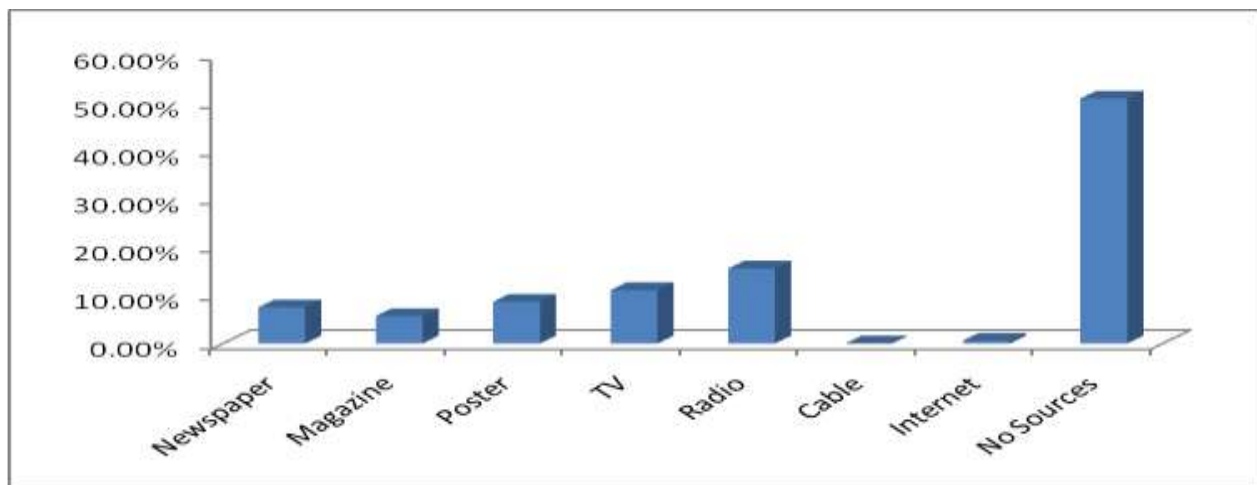

However, there are still ways of providing loans on non-interest basis which are used by businesses currently.

4.7 Promoting businesses (Business promotion)

Business promotion is very weak in Kunar. Only 49.11 % of the businesses rarely do advertisements for their products. Having no promotion can be one of the major reasons of business failures in Kunar.

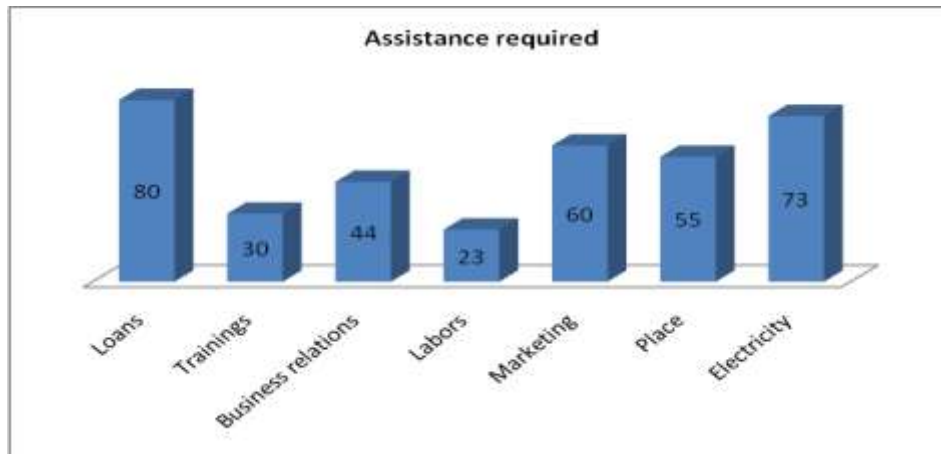

Most of the business in Kunar rely on the already established linkages and traditional methods of business. While with the free market approached currently used, require much more efforts and skills to meet the market demands.

50.89 % of the businesses do not do advertisement due to fear of insecurity as well.

4.8 Required assistance for Business Development

It was found out during the survey that, the businessmen are not contented of their income gained from their business.

While evaluating their own businesses in Kunar the entrepreneurs look to their profaned loss simply without considering the opportunity costs and or marginal costs. 75.45 % interviewed business are looking loans to be provided.

But majority of them are demanding for energy, marketing service, capacity building services and creating a working network with the clients and customers.

4.9 Failure Factors

AICB survey team put efforts to explore reasons of business failure in Kunar. The survey has identified some major factors which includes the following:

- a) Less capital to invest (lack of proper financial planning)
- b) No customers (mean no or less marketing)
- c) Less or no experience of the business
- d) Security problems
- e) Bad management

The first major failure factor raised by the entrepreneurs is the problem with capital which has two aspects, one, there is less capital with entrepreneurs and on the other hand there is no proper financial planning before starting a business.

The majority of the businesses in Kunar are also not doing marketing for their products and businesses due to the fact that most of the entrepreneurs have no or very little knowledge of business management and products promotion. The experience and knowledge of start up business is also vital and most of businesses failed are due to the same problems.

7. CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATION:

The survey report broadly covers the various aspects of Kunar business and its environment. It elaborates the key challenges faced by the local businesses and also indicates possible solutions.

The main issues covered by the report includes

- Lack of capacity

This includes lack of managerial skills such as management, business planning, accounting, marketing etc. The lack skilled labors is another constrain, which means there is larger gape terms of technical labor and limited opportunities of vocational trainings.

This also includes having no good business linkages or promotion of their products and services. The Kunar producers also do not market their products outside Assadabad and therefore have limited marketing opportunities.

- Lack of infrastructure (electricity)

Lack of infrastructure includes roads, facilities, electricity, cold store etc. which are also consider as vital success factors in business development

- Lack of financial sources

The Kunar inhabitant does not go for loan with interest rates; however they prefer traditional loan system which does not exist. There are only few microcredit offices, which provide loans to targeted population.

The Kunar business requires greater consideration from Government and other SME development organization in order to boost the local entrepreneurship.
